

WE MAKE IT SIMPLE

COOKIES POLICY

A cookie is a small text file that is stored in your browser every time you visit a website. They are used so that the website remembers your last visit when you browse the page again. Cookies usually store technical information, personal preferences, customised content, statistical data, links to social networks, access to user accounts, etc. The purpose of a cookie is to adapt the website content to your profile and needs. Without cookies, the services offered by any website would be significantly reduced.

Cookies used on this website

Following the guidelines from the Spanish Data Protection Agency and in order to inform you as accurately as possible, we will explain how this website uses cookies.

This website uses the following first-party cookies:

Session cookies, in order to ensure security and to fight against spam.

This website uses the following third-party cookies:

Google Analytics: This stores cookies to create statistics on the traffic and visitor volume to this website. When you use this website, you automatically consent to Google using your information. Therefore, to exercise any right in this respect, you must communicate directly with Google.

Deactivating or deleting cookies

You may exercise your right to deactivate or delete the cookies on this website at any time. How you perform either of these actions will depend on your web browser.

Additional notes

Neither this website nor its legal representatives are responsible for the content or truthfulness of the privacy policies adopted by the third parties mentioned in this cookie policy.

A web browser is the tool used to store cookies and this is where you should exercise your right to delete or deactivate them. Neither this website nor its legal representatives can guarantee the correct handling of cookies by the aforementioned browsers.

In some cases, it is necessary to install cookies so that the browser remembers your decision not to accept cookies.

In the case of Google Analytics cookies, Google stores the cookies on servers located in the United States and undertakes not to share them with third parties, unless legally obliged to do so, or when it is necessary for the system to function. According to Google, it does not save your IP address. The company Google Inc. adheres to the Safe Harbour Agreement, which guarantees that the transferred data will be treated with a level of protection compliant with European standards.
